Sewerage Disposal

Sewerage Disposal (University of Babylon, Iraq)

At the University of Babylon, the collected waste water is being transported into central sewage treatment unit for recycling process by eliminating contaminants through several steps to produce environmentally-safe recycled water to reuse it for different purposes including watering gardens.

In addition, a system of public sewers is available at the Babylon Province, Iraq (for both domestic and trade flows) with several sewage treatment units for recycling sewage into clean safe water.
