

University : University of Babylon
Country : Iraq
Web Address : <http://www.uobabylon.edu.iq/>

Water Conservation Program Implementation

Underground concrete water tanks for saving rain waters

ground water well for water conservation programs

Ground water well for water conservation programs

University of Babylon Lake for saving rain waters of dimensions (200 m x 4 m x 2 m)

Water Station at University of Babylon

University of Babylon Station for recycling water

University of Babylon Station for recycling water

University of Babylon Station for recycling water

Concrete Blocks for Water saving and distributing at University of Babylon

Water conservation program implementation, University of Babylon, Iraq

Several buildings at the University of Babylon have ground water tanks and ground water wells for water conservation programs. Also rain water is collected and discharged into the local ponds and canals around the campus. This clean water is usually used for several purposes, including watering the plants, washing cars, cleaning, and toilet flushing.