

University : University of Babylon
Country : Iraq
Web Address : <http://www.uobabylon.edu.iq/>

Water Recycling Program Implementation:

University of Babylon Station for recycling water

University of Babylon Station for recycling water

Waste Water Installation

Waste Water Installation

Concrete Blocks for saving rain waters

Water Station at University of Babylon

Concrete Blocks for Water saving and distributing at University of Babylon

University of Babylon Lake for saving rain waters of dimentions (200 m x 4 m x 2 m)
Water conservation program implementation, University of Babylon, Iraq

Recycled Water Consumed

The program of water recycling implementation in the main campus of the University of Babylon consists of recycling waste water to be used for garden sprinkler system along with washing cars, cleaning, and toilet flushing. Moreover, rain water is collected using underground concrete blocks and an artificial lake and several canals that found for the purpose of saving rainwater to be fully-recycled following several stages of water treatment, including sand filtration and UV filtration before flow to tap.